NEW BUSINESS:

With Bill Goatcher retiring soon, now is the time to consider outsourcing the water department. Jeremy Pirkle is leaving Tallulah Falls School and working with Environmental Management Services. Mr. Pirkle reviewed the available services offered by EMS and offered recommendations on what could be outsourced. To save money, the police could still do the daily testing and meter readings. EMS handles over 180 systems specializing in 1 MGD or less. They have been in business for over 40 years.

Bill Goatcher stated that he would also like to be considered for part-time employment in the police and water departments to keep his certifications current.

Mr. Pirkle and Mr. Goatcher were asked to submit proposals for review by the Council at our December meeting.
